Doing better

By Emily

1.) Wait, St. Patrick's day happened? I just thought everyone was drinking green things to bring spring here.

2.) After our dismal showing last week, I am hoping we bounce back this week with more of a team and actually hitting the board....

Been a great season, looking forward to teams not getting their highest score ever against us in the playoffs.

Hitting the board is the first step, the second one is having a beer, then trying to do that again, in some order.

But that's all technobabble.

Two months ago, I saw a provocative movie on cable TV. It was called The Net, with that girl from the bus. I did a little reading, and I realize, it wasn't that farfetched.

HHKB Team Pong Rules

Teams of 2 players face off against each other by taking shooting pong balls at your standard 10 cup triangle (in round 1, down to 6 in subsequent rounds) at each end of the table.

The first team to knock all 10/6 cups out of the game wins that round and plays the next team in their bracket. Points are given out to the top 3 finishing teams each week.

Each team's first game is against the team they played in cornhole that week. Players can be switched after each game but not during.

Note, teams that play cornhole at 8:15 are expected to have players for beer pong at the Barking Dog by 7:30 pm to get their first round games in.

HHKB Survivor Pong Rules

Every week following team beer pong we will set up 4 tables with 4 cups in the form of a diamond on either end of each table. Everyone in play then sets up at the 4 tables with everyone in a line on one side of the table.

Round 1 begins with each person throws a pong ball towards the diamond at the other end, if you hit your shot, you walk over take your drink and start the line of those who have advanced to round 2 on the opposite side, just retrieving balls at that point. Should you miss your shot, you go back to the end of the line to try again. Round 1 will continue in this fashion until each table gets down to the final four at each table, who are then eliminated. To ensure fairness, in each round every player will take the same amount of shots to get to the final four.

Everyone not eliminated then gets back in line and round 2 starts and continues the exact same way round 1. The rounds continue until we have a final 8 who then move to one table and work to get to the top 5 in the same way that the previous rounds occurred. Final person standing wins that week's points.

Top 5 finishers receive points each week and the winner gets one point for their team's overall Beer Pong standings.
